

ERS Research Seminar

Immunotherapy: a new standard of care in thoracic malignancies?

May 04-05, 2017

Thursday 04 May 2017

08:45-09:00 - Introduction

Anne-Pascale Meert and Jacques Cadranel

Session 1

Chairs: Thierry Berghmans and Julien Mazieres

09:00-09:30 From ineffective tumor immune response to immunomodulation in lung cancer
Franck Pages, France

09:30-10:00 How to evaluate the immune response in the tissue?
Ming Tsao, Canada

10:00-10:30 Panel discussion

10:30-10:50 - Coffee break

Session 2

Chairs: Frank Pages and Ming Tsao

10:50-11:10 Unresolved issues in the use of check-point inhibitors in NSCLC
Frances Shepherd, Toronto, Canada

11:10-11:30 Toxicity of checkpoint inhibitors
Solange Peters, Lausanne, Switzerland

11:30-11:50 Panel discussion

11:50-13:00 - Poster presentations

13h00-14h00 - Lunch

Session 3

Chairs: Anne-Pascale Meert and Jacques Cadranel

14:00-14:20 Check point inhibitors in advanced non small cell cancer
Marina Garassino, Italy

14:20-14:40 Check point inhibitors in peri-operative non small cell lung cancer strategy
Julien Mazieres, Toulouse, France

14:40-15:00 Vaccination in non small lung cancer
Joachim G.J.V. Aerts, Netherlands

15:00-15:30 Panel discussion

15:30- 16:00 - Coffee break

16:00-17:15 - Session 4 - Breakout

Group 1: Trials in practice: new ideas, new combo and regulatory problems

Group 2: Managing toxicity of immunomodulatory treatment

Group 3: Predictive biomarkers: which, when and how ?

17:15-18:00 - General discussion

Friday 05 May 2017

Session 5

Chairs: Marina Garassino and France Shepherd

09:00-09:20 Is there a place for ICI in the context of oncogenic addiction?
 Jacques Cadranel, France

09:20-09:40 Rationale for combined immuno-, chemo-, and radiotherapy
 Eric Deutsch, France

09:40-10:00 Current clinical trials
 Thierry Berghmans, Belgium

10:00-10:30 Panel discussion

10h30--10h45 - Coffee break

Session 6 - General podium discussion on research priorities

10:45-11:45 Summary of working groups

11: 45-12:30 Plenary discussion

12:30-14:00 - Lunch